Sir Arthur Currie Sees Need
of Organization to Protect Canada's Interests

Addresses Gathering of Mc-Gill Graduates at Empress
Hotel

Urging the graduates of McGill to take the initiative in forming a Canadian Institute of International Affairs,
to be affiliated with that of London,
England, Sir Arthur Currie, president of McGill University, addressed members of the McGill Graduates' Society at the Empress Hotel to-day. His suggestion was eagerly seized by those present, and at the annual meeting of the body plans for the formation of such institution will be discussed, it was intimated by the president, Dr.
Gordon Kenning.

Sir Arthur spoke of the things nearest the hearts of the graduates assembled, of the progress of their university
during the past few years and of the lofty position it occupied in the world of learning.

HAS ACHIEVED FAME

"Our university has achieved great fame in medical and engineering departments, and I think will achieve as marked success in other faculties," he said. A McGill man was always welcomed and appreciated wherever he went, said Sir Arthur, and the Arts
Faculty was being vastly improved.
Expenditure in this department was annually $100,000 in excess of what it was a few years ago.

SECOND TO NONE

Sir Arthur spoke highly of the professors in the university, declaring that men of high calibre had been brought into the institution, until its faculty was second to none. Men of strong personality and outstanding character
and achievement had come to McGill,
he said, and were assisting in its progress, its policy of expansion.

"We have raised the standard in every department," said Sir Arthur.
"Only a limited number of students are admitted to the medical faculty." In arts the number of students was limited to a certain extent as well, he added.

AIR OF PROGRESS

"There is an air of progress around the old university," he went on. "We are in a position where we can select our students. We want it known that a McGill graduate is worthy of some recognition among his fellowmen."

INTERNATIONAL PLACE

Canada was a vast country, Sir Arthur continued, between two great oceans and having, necessarily, ports
on her coasts which sent ships to all

OVER 100 ABOARD STEAMER AGROUND IN LAKE HURON

Sarnia, Ont., Aug. 24.—Despite the efforts of two tugs to release it, the steamer Huron of the Northern Navigation Company is still aground on a mud bank in Mud Lake, at the head of Lake Huron, to-day. There are 100 passengers aboard the vessel, which grounded yesterday afternoon. Reports received say they are in no danger.

AEROPLANES AND CARRIER SHARE IN SEARCH FOR THREE MISSING PACIFIC PLANES

With the search of the United States naval vessels for the three missing California-Honolulu aeroplanes, Golden Eagle, Miss Doran and Dallas Spirit, ordered to end to-morrow night, the aeroplane carrier Langley was still at sea to-day, aeroplanes rising from her great deck and carrying on the hunt.
In addition to the Langley, forty United States naval vessels, chiefly destroyers, have been engaged in the search. The Golden Eagle and the Miss Doran left Oakland August 16 and the Dallas Spirit left last Friday, August 19. Six men and one young woman, Miss Mildred Doran, twenty-two-year-old school teacher of Flint, Mich., were aboard the three planes.

CITIZENS' DAY FINDS WILLOWS FAIR AT ITS BEST

Splendid Collections in All Departments of Victoria's Exhibition Await Inspection; Record Attendance Is Expected; Stampede To-night at the Horse Show Building

Prepared for a host of visitors this afternoon and evening, the Provincial Exhibition at the Willows presents a colorful scene in all the buildings.
Mayor Pendray has declared to-day to be Citizens' Day, in honor of the fair, and has issued a call to everyone to visit the Willows and view the entire
The Main Building houses a brilliantly colorful display of flowers and plants, in addition to a surprising array of fruits and vegetables of the finest types.

Music plays throughout the day and evening. This is supplied by Fletcher Brothers, who have erected a handsome central music temple to house a battery of electrically operated Victrolas,
operated from a master instrument.
At all hours a large audience is seated nearby.

COLORWOOD WOMEN WIN
In the Women's Building the ladies of Greater Victoria have collected the finest display of women's work seen at the Willows. Four magnificent entries in the women's institutes competition occupy the center of the building, the standing awarded by the judges being as follows: First, Colwood, 243½ points; second, Victoria, 228½ points; third, Luxton and Happy Valley, 215 points; fourth, Royal Oak, 214 points.

Woolen work, spinning and weaving is shown by Mrs. D. B. Harris and Miss Macpherson, this section of the Women's Building being a centre of interest.

The art department of the Exhibition required the whole of the upper floor of the Women's Building. The hundreds of entries hold the interest of a large number of visitors at all hours of the day and evening.

Livestock is this year an outstanding feature of the Exhibition. The enlarged accommodations are crowded to capacity with stock which the judges declare to be the equal of any seen anywhere. The stock parade will take place

PREMIER BALDWIN RETURNS TO BRITAIN
Government Head Takes Back Message of Hope After Tour of Canada

Southampton, Aug. 24 (Canadian Press Cal.)—The liner Empress of Scotland, with Premier and Mrs. Stanley Baldwin and their party aboard,
arrived at Southampton from Canada
soon after midday, in a burst of sunshine of which England has seen very little this summer. The Premier, while the vessel was being berthed, was observed on the bridge. Immediately afterward, he gave the Canadian Press a short interview.

"I have had a very strenuous time," Mr. Baldwin said with regard to his tour of Canada. "But it has been a wonderful experience and I have enjoyed every minute of it. In nineteen days I made twenty-six speeches. It came back cured. I am certain I do not interpret the spirit of Canada amiss
if I say the message the people gave
me to bring home is one of faith, of
hope and of affection."

NO PESSIMISM
"If you go to Canada a pessimist you will feel like a fish out of water," the Premier said. "And I prophesy you will come back cured. I am certain I do not interpret the spirit of Canada amiss
if I say the message the people gave
me to bring home is one of faith, of
hope and of affection."

Longer Fishing Season Is Urged
Bellingham, Aug. 24.—Claiming the humpback salmon season is later than usual this year, Bellingham cannerymen may ask Governor Hartley to extend the season to September 30.

NEW WESTMINSTER PEOPLE TO-MORROW WILL CHOOSE MEMBER OF LEGISLATURE

Rallies of Parties To-night Will Bring Brief Campaign
to an End; Premier MacLean to Speak at Meeting in Interests of Mayor A. Wells Gray, Liberal Candidate; C. A. Welsh, the Conservative Candidate, to Address Two Meetings

New Westminster, Aug. 24.—Tonight the shortest by-election campaign in the history of British Columbia will end and to-morrow
the voters of New Westminster will choose their representative in the Legislature.

All is ready for the polling. As the constituency does not extend beyond the city limits, only one polling station will be used. Booths have been erected in the Armories,
and K. K. Reid, returning officer, is prepared to handle the 5,891
voters on the list.

Polling will be from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.
It is expected the total vote will set
a new high record for the constituency.
The candidates and their supporters
will hear the results at the Armories,
where special accommodation has been arranged for them.

To-day, as yesterday and Monday, there were fresh indications of the increasing strength of Mayor
A. Wells Gray, Liberal candidate.
While his supporters do not expect
against the majority of the opposition
A. Welsh, Conservative, they expect him to have, all are in agreement
in predicting a substantial lead.

PREMIER TO SPEAK
A rally of Liberals in the Edison
Theatre to-night will be addressed by Premier J. D. MacLean. Hon. W. H.
Sutherland, Minister of Public Works;
Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands;
Brig.-Gen. V. W. Odium, M.P.P., Vancouver; Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, M.P.P., Vancouver; Aldermen Fred J. Hume
and the candidate.

ings to-night. In the Royal Theatre,

servative leader, W. F. Kennedy, M.P.P.
for North Okanagan; Mrs. Angus Mc-Lean, Vancouver; Senator J. D. Taylor,
New Westminster; and C. A. Welsh, the candidate. In the St. James Theatre,

COURTNEY PLANE UNABLE TO RISE
At Southampton Crew Post-
pones Start of Flight to Azores Till To-morrow

Southampton, Aug. 24.—Captain
Frank T. Courtney and his two companions made a futile effort to hop off for the Azores on the first stage of their transatlantic flight this evening,
but their flying boat, the Whale, heavily-laden, refused to rise from the water
in repeated attempts.

The Whale was a mile and a half again, and again, but vainly, and Captain Courtney reluctantly postponed
the attempted hop off until to-morrow.
He ordered 200 gallons of gasoline to be taken out of the craft during the night in order to lighten it.

TO CLOSE DEAL WITH ELEVATOR ENGINEERS
Mayor J. C. Pendray in Vancouver Attending to Details of Supervision

The agreement between the city and the firm of C. D. Howe & Company, Port Arthur and Vancouver elevator engineers, is ready for signature, it was stated at the city hall to-day. Instructed by the council to close with the firm on terms satisfactory to the city, Mayor J. C. Pendray left for Vancouver Monday night, and is now in touch with the engineers.

In telephone communication with the city to-day His Worship stated that he met W. G. Swan, a representative of the firm, and had discussed with him the details of the various stages of the work. The firm of C. D. Howe & Company will be used by the city to act for it throughout the inspection of the Panama Pacific grain elevator
plans and the actual construction and completion of the work.

Their fee for the work is stated to be one-half of one per cent for the inspection of the plans, and at the rate of one per cent on the cost of the work
for supervision during construction.
The completed elevator is estimated to cost $650,000, with $10,000 as the approximate cost of adequate supervision
on behalf of the city during the progress of the project. The city's liability rests with a guarantee of interest on the principal on bonds of the Panama Pacific Grain Terminals Limited to sell for $600,000.

The approval by the city of the rough lay-out plans of the elevator, and the drawing of the final plans by Metcalf & Company for the Panama Pacific Terminals will follow as the next phases of the issue. The preparation and ratification of the main and incidental contracts will follow final approval of the details, plans and specifications. Meanwhile the Panama Pacific Grain Terminals Limited are to secure registration for business in this province, on an undertaking given to the city by D. S. Tait on behalf of the firm.

BOUNDARY PROBLEMS ARE INVESTIGATED
J. D. Clark, Representing Canada, and Col. E. L. Jones,
For U.S., in Vancouver

Vancouver, Aug. 24.—Problems of the boundaries between Canada and the United States and British Columbia and Alaska are being studied by special commissioners of both governments,
John D. Clark, director of surveys, Ottawa, and Colonel E. Lester Jones, Washington, D.C., who are now in Vancouver.

Referring to the proposal to put forward by Sir Hugh Denison, Australian Trade Commissioner in the United States, that the port of Skagway, Alaska, should be internationalized or leased to British Columbia interests,
Colonel Jones said neither he nor Mr.
Clark had officially heard anything of the scheme.

Political storms which led to the introduction of a motion of no confidence in the Dal were brought on by the decision of the forty-five Plaines
Pall Republicans led by Samson de Valere to take the side of the Dal. This prompted the vote of the Opposition and immediately placed the Government in a precarious position.

AUSTRALIAN LOAN

New York, Aug. 24.—Prompt oversubscription of $40,000,000 Aus-

ported on the bond market here
to-day.

WORST STORM
IN MEMORY
THRILLS CITY
Phenomenal Lightning Played
Pranks With Lighting System

To the accompaniment of a phenomenal display of "violet" lightning
which played pranks all over the city, Victoria was last evening visited by the worst thunderstorm it has ever experienced. Superintendent Denison of the Gonzales Heights Observatory stated this morning that it was the most severe in his memory, which extends over many years, thunderstorms
being a rare occurrence here.

Commencing about 5.30, when it arrived from the direction of the Straits of Juan de Fuca, the storm raged for about four and a half hours, concentrating on this vicinity. A torrential down-pour of rain soon after darkness fell signalled the height of the storm
and the reverberating peals of thunder
and the accompanying forks of lightning which rent the sky every few seconds made the occasion an awe-inspiring one.

Although the rainfall was of comparatively short duration the thunder and lightning continued until about 10 o'clock, and the vivid flashes left a trail of damage, fortunately none very serious, in its wake.

At the Dominion Hotel a two-inch hole was blown in a metal metre box
at the top of the elevator shaft, but the damage stopped at that.

At St. Joseph's Hospital the Sisters and nurses showed great presence of mind when a spectacular display of the white and blinding electrical flame darted down the elevator shaft, and caused a short circuit in a fuse box
at the bottom of the shaft. Fire engines roared on their way through torrential rains to the scene, but the service was not needed.

EXPLOSION AND FIRE DESTROY BUILDING
Loss in Chicago Believed Caused by Gas From Leaky Pipe

Chicago, Aug. 24.—An explosion attributed to gas from a leaking pipe wrecked three stores in a one-story building on Taylor Street, in the west side of Chicago, to-day.

Firemen found no trace of a body in the ruins, although a bakery had been in the neighborhood and the proprietor of a drygoods store, a grocer and the owner of a bakery had been in the building.

It is stated an escort of Canadian Government planes probably will be sent to accompany Captain Hamilton
on the last miles of his long journey.

Stout aeroplane for Toronto this after-

MUCH DAMAGE DONE BY RIOTERS IN PARIS

Storm Ended Vanzetti Disturbances After Mob Fought Police

Paris, Aug. 24.—Paris was taking stock to-day of the damage wrought by infuriated radicals in an orgy of destruction last night after they had been baffled in attempts to stage demonstrations against the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti on the great boulevards and around the United States Embassy. It is estimated that before the disturbances were brought to an end to-day by a heavy storm soon after midnight, thousands of dollars' worth of property had been wrecked.

Police reserves had driven the manifestants from their meeting places earlier in the night. They regrouped at various points, well away from where the police were concentrated, notably on the Boulevard Sebastopol and in the Montmartre section.

APACHES BUST
They were augmented, the police say, by a large proportion of Apaches and underworld characters. On the way they smashed store windows, scattering or pillaging the contents of shops. At Sebastopol, in the absence of the police, they had everything their own way for a time. They wrecked the largest grocery store in Paris, then raised a barricade of carts and tables and used canned goods as missiles with which to pelt the police, who rushed up in automobile trucks.

The patrolmen soon stormed the barricade and routed the defenders, who fled, smashing more store fronts as they ran.

CABARETS DISTURBED
In Montmartre most of the cabaret patrons were panic-stricken. Proprietors put up their shutters. Those who were not quick enough had windows smashed and customers showered with bottles and glasses, accompanied by yells of "Death to the bourgeoisie." The famous Moulin Rouge suffered most. It had its glass front completely demolished. Automobiles parked outside were overturned and their tires cut.

When chased by the police, the mob hid itself to the Arc de Triomphe, the site of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. The newspapers report the flowers were trampled upon.

CAFÉ WINDOWS BROKEN
Again scattered by the police, the crowds proceeded down the Champs Elysees, smashing windows of one or two cafes. Then the storm broke, sending the manifestants home.

Two hundred demonstrators were arrested in the course of the evening.

mostly for obstruction and insulting the police. Ten policemen were badly hurt by knife thrusts and fifty others received slight injuries. How many manifestants were injured is not known, but the number is believed to be considerable, as the police used their clubs vigorously.

east corner of Hyde Park last night were suffering with bruises and sore heads to-day as a consequence of the police charges. One woman, fifty-eight years old, was in a hospital with a broken leg and a man with body injuries. Ten arrests were made.

FOURTY INJURED
Forty persons are known to have been injured. The trouble started when the manifestants, defying police orders, began to form a procession to march to the United States Embassy, after staging what was deemed as a "memorial meeting" in Hyde Park proper.

When some of the demonstrators attacked the policemen and their horses with sticks, resisters were called out and they plunged into the crowd with drawn batons, driving them from the streets.

CROWDS DRENCHED
Geneva, Aug. 24.—Police charges and streams of water were required to force back crowds of demonstrators here who gathered to shout imprecations against the United States last night because of the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti. A large mob congregated before the United States consulate, but as a guard of 300 policemen and detectives had been thrown about the building, the manifestants could not get near it. Similar precautions had been taken at the League of Nations property.

THEATRE CLOSED
One motion picture theatre bore an illuminated sign last night: "Closed because of mourning."

A big store raised a sign reading: "As a protest against American injustice, no American purchaser will be served here."

A considerable number of foreigners left Geneva hastily for other parts of Switzerland in apprehension of further rioting.

Both the Federal and Geneva Governments have officially apologized to the League of Nations for the depredations committed against its property. The United States consulate was closed yesterday afternoon.

Amsterdam, Aug. 24.—A man was arrested yesterday for throwing a stone through a window of the United States consulate here. Nobody was injured.

the profession must be maintained. This could be done by useful service not only in professional work, but in citizenship. More rigid requirements had been suggested to check the admission of "militants" into the profession and he brought these points to the attention of the members so they might consider them and take concerted action if they thought proper.

DELEGATES WELCOMED
Addresses of welcome were made by President G. E. Tremaine, of Toronto; Sir William Mulock, Chief Justice of Ontario; and Mayor Thomas Foster of Toronto. Lindley Crease, K.C., of Victoria, B.C., responded.

Reports and appointment of committees occupied the rest of the morning. S. H. Strawn, representative of the American Bar Association, was the speaker at luncheon at noon and the chairman was J. E. Martin of Montreal.

This afternoon, under the chairmanship of Isaac Pitblado, K.C., of Winnipeg, the members met and were addressed by John B. Falconbridge, K.C., Toronto, and L. E. Beaulieu, K.C., Montreal, and subsequently discussed them.

"While British Columbia mourns the loss of the late Premier, the Hon. John Oliver, our Province is fortunate in having a statesman of the outstanding experience possessed by the Hon. J. D. MacLean to succeed to that high and important office."

"His political life has followed so truly after our late chief that he proved to be the personal choice for leadership of the late Hon. John Oliver. The business ability displayed, the able manner in which Dr. MacLean administered the different departments which have been entrusted to him during his political career, admirably qualify that gentleman for the high and important office, the First Minister of our Province. Dr. MacLean is the soul of political integrity, a gentleman easy of approach, a gifted public speaker, and with his wide and extensive knowledge of the wants of our Province, he will prove an exceptional leader, and under his guidance I am sure British Columbia will go forward to a new and additional era of prosperity."

MANY VARIETIES OF APPLES ON TREE

Glenora, N.Y., Aug. 24.—An apple tree, subject of many grafting operations, is to-day bearing thirty-five varieties of apples, according to the claim of James Holloway, in whose orchard here it stands.

For years Mr. Holloway's hobby has been experimenting with tree grafting. He planted his tree from a seedling years ago and since then has grafted to its shoots from thirty-four different sorts of apple trees.

ASHES OF VANZETTI ARE TO BE TAKEN TO CITIES OF EUROPE

Demonstration Planned by Committee Following Execution of Vanzetti and Sacco

Boston, Aug. 24.—The ashes of Bartolomeo Vanzetti are to be taken on a tour of Europe. Miss Luigia Vanzetti, who came from Italy to see her brother before he was executed in the Massachusetts state prison early yesterday morning, is to accompany them. After the body is cremated here, the ashes will be taken to New York, London, Paris, Berlin, Stockholm and other cities before being taken to Italy, Vanzetti's native land.

The body of Nicola Sacco, who was executed with Vanzetti, also is to be cremated. The ashes will be claimed by the widow, who resides in Boston with her two children.

PARADES TO BE HELD
Announcing a cancellation of plans for exhibiting the bodies of the two men in various United States cities, because of the "physical impossibility," the Sacco-Vanzetti Defence Committee said the cremation would be held Sunday, with funeral processions or memorial services in various United States cities. The bodies will lie in state until Sunday in the north-end of Boston, the Italian section of the city, the announcement said.

Difficulties developed in this connection to-day. City ordinances require burial within four days of death, with special permission.

The state to-day still held the bodies, but the tenure which began with their arrest for murder in 1920 seemed likely to be broken before night by delivery of the bodies to the Sacco-Vanzetti Defence Committee. The men refused to the last to return to the Roman Catholic religion of their childhood. Respecting their beliefs, it was announced no prayers would be said, but that comrades would speak briefly before the cremation.

INQUIRIES PROPOSED
A call has gone out for a national conference in New York on August 27, to organize a league "to establish the innocence of Sacco and Vanzetti and to expose the conspiracy which sent them to death."

It was proposed to accomplish this by a general investigation of the Department of Justice and an inquiry into the decisions of Governor Fuller of Massachusetts and his advisory committee, and by exposing "the vicious under-cover activities of private and government detective agencies."

It was hoped also to raise a fund for Mrs. Sacco and to create a memorial for the two men.

LETTERS MADE PUBLIC
Final letters from Sacco and Vanzetti have been made public by the Defence Committee. One was by Vanzetti to Sacco's young son, Dante.

"I tell you now all that I know of your father," the letter said. "He is not a criminal, but one of the bravest men I ever knew. Some day you will understand what I am about to tell you, that your father has sacrificed everything dear and sacred to the human heart for his faith in liberty and justice for all."

The letter said Vanzetti was leaving Dante, his "American Bible," which the letter did not otherwise identify.

MILIONS LIVE
In a joint letter to the Defence Committee, Sacco and Vanzetti wrote: "Only two of us will die. Our ideals, our comrades, will live by millions."

Have YOU a "Lunch Counter" Husband?

MOST lunch-counter husbands are men who hate to upset home routine by being late for dinner. So when they're delayed at the office or stay overtime at the golf club they eat downtown.

But today such consideration is unnecessary. The up-to-date housewife serves her family meals at the regular time, while the latecomer's meal is kept piping-hot in McClary's.

No danger of over-cooking. No scorching. He sits down to a real, home-cooked meal in the pleasant surroundings of his own family. The "stored heat" principle of McClary's Hermetite enables you to keep his dinner temptingly hot without using any more current. The door closes so tight that it makes the oven almost hermetically sealed—only a minimum of heat can escape.

Decide NOW to save the money he spends at lunch counters—to enjoy more leisure—to eliminate drudgery. McClary's all-white, porcelain-enamelled electric range will bring to your kitchen economy, beauty, utility and sanitation such as you have never before experienced.

In the very style and size you require, at a price you can afford.

SIR ARTHUR CURRIE'S ROLE

BY REASON OF OUR PROXIMITY TO the Orient we on the Pacific Coast realize how necessary it is to build for the future on peaceful lines. Canada's trade with the Oriental countries may not amount to a very large total in dollars and cents at the present time; but it should be safe to say that within the next twenty years our business with China alone will be a large item in this country's annual revenue. For the year ending last June we sold to Japan and China—including Hongkong—goods to the value of approximately $45,000,000 compared with purchases amounting to a little more than one-third of that sum. And in spite of her restless condition, China's share of these exports are valued at nearly $14,000,000.

When it is considered that there are more than 400,000,000 people in China and approximately 70,000,000 in Japan it at once will be apparent that a tremendous market awaits development. It should be safe to say that in ten years from now the value of our exports to China alone will be four times as great as it was in the last twelve months. That business is worth fostering and protecting; but it can be protected only by mutual understanding and the sensible treatment of problems which from time to time are certain to confront peoples of different color and outlook. Such organizations as the Institute of Pacific Relations are rendering useful service in helping to lay the foundation for the peaceful solution of these problems.

But while we in British Columbia realize that Canada is part of what we may call the "Pacific Problem," that realization is not shared very fully by the other provinces. As head of McGill University Sir Arthur Currie is in a position to play an important part in awakening the Canadian people to the value of their opportunities on this great ocean, and the dangers and difficulties which lie ahead. His address to the Canadian Club yesterday showed that not only has he a wide grasp of the Pacific situation and its implications, but that he also has the vision in which may be found the key to the composition of such racial and economic differences as may arise. Sir Arthur should repeat that speech as often as opportunity may offer in the centres of the East. In this he will again render his country distinguished service.

SACCO AND VANZETTI

HOW THE STATE OF MASSACHUSETTS administers its laws is its own business, and it was a foregone conclusion that on being assured that Sacco and Vanzetti had received a fair trial it would put the sentence of the court into effect. In such circumstances it could not afford to allow itself to be influenced by radical demonstrations, murder and bomb-throwing in various outside places throughout the world. If it had done so there would have been an end to law and order as far as the activities of anarchists within its boundaries were concerned. It should be remembered that the element to which Sacco and Vanzetti belonged does not believe that violence is a crime. Courts of justice, laws, religion and all those other institutions upon which ordered society is based are regarded by anarchists as things to be defied and attacked, and to their disordered minds it is quite proper to resort to any measures to destroy them. The assassin of McKinley regarded himself as a martyr when he was sentenced to be executed. The violent nature of some of the demonstrations in support of the two condemned men showed to what sort of a company Sacco and Vanzetti belonged.

This is not to say that all those who urged a new trial or leniency for the two men shared their crazy social views. In fact, probably only a small minority did so. A great many people and organizations were influenced by the extraordinary circumstance that these men had been in the shadow of the gallows for seven years and considered, therefore, that they had a reasonable claim to clemency, especially in view of the strictly circumstantial character of the evidence against them. At the same time, it is pertinent to remark that no world-wide protests and demonstrations were excited by the recent reign of terror in Russia, when scores of helpless men, women and even children were executed by the Bolshevik government without even the formality of a trial. Some of them had been languishing in prison in daily fear of the executioner for years.

If the law processes of Massachusetts had been as direct and free from complications as those of an ordinary British country, all this agitation would not have arisen. Perhaps, as a salutary outcome of this notorious episode, there will be a reconstitution of the legal machinery of not only that state but of other states as well. Just as long as criminals believe the chances are five to one in the courts for escaping the extreme penalty for their crimes they will be ready to take those odds.

There is an important lesson for Canada in this case, and from it we sternly should revolve at all costs to adhere strictly to the system of law enforcement and administration of justice we have inherited from Great Britain. We should determine to prevent the development of conditions which hinder the prompt punishment of people convicted of serious crimes. In the swift and resolute administration of justice lies one of the bulwarks of our civilization. With it we can not afford to trifle; whatever tendency to laxity has developed must promptly be overcome.

CANADA AND AUSTRALIA

FOR THE SAKE OF CANADA'S GOOD name for fair dealing, apart from a pressing necessity to protect her own interests, it is to be hoped that nothing will be done to disturb the benefits this country obviously is obtaining through the operation of the trading arrangement with Australia.

Hon. H. E. Pratten, Australia's Minister of Trade and Customs, who is now on the Coast, can not understand Canada's point of view in regard to the Treaty. He does not think that we did the right thing when we imposed the dumping duties on Australian butter last year. He has just cause for taking that attitude. There might be something to be said for us if our purchases from the Commonwealth were anything like as large as our sales to her. But they are not. In the two years ending with last June our favorable balance of trade with Australia was approximately $25,000,000 out of business which amounted in all to nearly $44,000,000. It was expected that the arrangement would result in more purchases by Canada from Australia. It has not been the case. For the year ending with last June it is true that we bought more by approximately $1,250,000 than we did in the previous twelve months; but it likewise is true that our exports advanced by approximately double that amount.

With these facts before him it is not surprising that Mr. Pratten should suggest that we are getting a good enough bargain already without making it harder for his country's butter to get into this Dominion. Nor was it necessary to impose the dumping duty. It is a matter of record that a very large consignment had to be brought back from the Old Country in order to satisfy the Canadian domestic demand, while we well remember conditions in British Columbia which made the arrival of butter from the Antipodes an event for special mention in the market news. It met a serious shortage on several occasions.

Selling four times as much to Australia as we buy from her is an economic exchange which obviously can not persist. There is no suggestion that the southern Dominion will ask for a modification of the terms of the Treaty; but one thing is certain—any attempt on our part to grab still more advantage would be poor business.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

DR. GREENFELL
From The New York World

It is a bit superfluous, this royal grant to Wilfrid Grenfell of a knighthood of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. . . Grenfell's true title of honor, the one to which he will undoubtedly cling, is that by which we have always known him; he is simply Dr. Grenfell. Oxford made him an M.D. Sir Frederick Treves gave him a professional polish. But his own courage, his interest in the poor, and the buffeted, his genius for organization, carried out his career. . . But wherever throughout the world courage, devotion and high and altruistic purposes are admired his name has become an inspiration to men.

THE PASSING OF "HONEST JOHN"

From The Manitoba Free Press

The passing of John Oliver of British Columbia removes from Canadian public life an outstanding figure and an interesting personality. His death, while sudden, cannot be considered unexpected, as he was known to be suffering from an incurable disease. He would have resigned the premiership of British Columbia last month had not the party urgently requested him to hold office. As it was, he was given a first lieutenant in the person of Hon. J. D. Maclean who was, in fact, premier in all but name, and who will now succeed Mr. Oliver in the premiership. Still, Mr. Oliver may truly be said to have died, as he would have wished, in harness.

From his first election to the Legislature of British Columbia in 1900 John Oliver fought for what he conceived to be the rights of his Province. He was not a native son, having been born in England in 1856; but he went to British Columbia at an early age and acquired the aggressive coast point of view which he espoused on most occasions. Almost his first action as a member was to move for an investigation into the dealings of the Railway land grant.

At times defeated in provincial elections, John Oliver always managed to come back sooner or later; and when the McBride administration disintegrated he was chosen as Premier Brewster's right-hand man. On the death of the Premier he naturally inherited the premiership and he steered the Liberal Government through various shoals mainly with success to the present time. John Oliver was a man of the people. He never lost touch with the soil which gave him prosperity and brought him into prominence. In a province to which political scandal and even corruption was not unknown, John Oliver kept personally always clean so that the sobriquet "Honest John," of which he was justifiably proud, well became him.

His successor, Dr. Maclean, is capable and a good administrator, but recent events have shown that the hold of Liberalism on British Columbia in provincial politics was largely the personal hold of Honest John, and the general election which is due within the next year or so may prove how great that hold was. British Columbia, apart altogether from politics, is poorer for his passing.

CONFEDERATION
AND AFTER
Sixty Years of Progress

NO. 88

THE CANADIAN CLUB MOVEMENT

During the preparation for the celebration for the sixtieth anniversary of Confederation, the history of the Canadian Club and the development of many Canadian organizations and institutions have been reviewed. As a purely Canadian organization, having as its objects "to foster Canadian patriotism and to stimulate intelligent citizenship, and as a means to that end to encourage the formation of Canadian Clubs and to promote their success," none are more worthy of attention than the Canadian Club movement.

Throughout history it has been found that a crisis in the development of a country always produces strong sentiments which ultimately result in the settlement of the issue. Thus, in 1862, when there was general depression throughout Canada, and the question of annexation was mooted, the young men in Hamilton gathered together to discuss the future of their country, and the possibility of developing a Canadian nationality which,

Q. What is the extent of Canada's fisheries?

A. Canada's deep sea fisheries are among the greatest in the world; 12,500 miles of indented coastline on Atlantic, Pacific and Arctic coasts; prolific with edible fish; also 200,000 square miles of interior fresh waters, or more than half of fresh water of globe. The commercial fishery production is nearing the $50,000,000 mark.

The greatest latitude was allowed the clubs in the formation of their organizations, and the second step in the development of the movement was taken—that of forming the Association of Canadian Clubs. An annual conference was held, and delegates from each club met and discussed questions pertaining to the welfare of the individual clubs and to the movement as a whole. This step gave impetus to the movement, which was to strengthen and expand its range until 1914. During the unsettled years of the war no annual conference was held, but the individual clubs were held feverishly in all patriotic endeavors, and were responsible for the success of many important undertakings.

As the association was reorganized and began to function, but the movement as a whole was apathetic. The smaller clubs disintegrated, and the larger clubs seemed to lose sight of the original reason for their being. However, the depression following the war and the political unrest once again brought to the attention of the clubs the need for a Canadian opinion, and with it, a revitalization of the Canadian Clubs. At the annual conference various means were discussed whereby the movement could be brought back to its position of impartial educator of Canadian opinion, and finally a part-time secretary was appointed to keep in touch with the clubs and to secure speakers who had a distinctly Canadian message.

This experiment proved so successful that it was felt that the time was ripe for the final step—a step which the founders had foreseen would be necessary. A National Office with a permanent staff was established in that the future development of the movement will come from the expansion of the National Office. And it was only made possible by the generosity of the larger clubs who have practically financed it during this first year of its existence.

Altogether, in the eight short months since its inception, the National Office has more than justified its existence, and the promise which it gives for the future is almost incalculable. Apart from the primary work of strengthening the active club, reviving defunct ones and organizing new ones, the National Office has been removing sectional prejudices throughout the Dominion. Whenever possible speakers have been exchanged between the provinces. Westerners have been made to feel that the Maritimes presented to them by a citizen of Acadia, and vice versa. Quebec and Ontario have exchanged speakers, and in all cases a feeling of goodwill and understanding is replacing the intolerance which had its birth in ignorance.

Moreover, the celebration of Confederation has helped the clubs to realize before the people the reason for the existence of such an organization as the Canadian Clubs. The club has now have a unity of purpose in creating the unity of Canada. The movement will have achieved its destiny as soon as Canadian realize they are one people, and the fact which is already accepted by the outside world.

HAIL, CANADA, MY COUNTRY

Donald A. Fraser

Hail, Canada, my Country,
I sing my love of thee!
Thy smiling features of mount and plain
Are dear as life to me;
I love them, for I've sprung of them;
Thy beauty makes me whole;
My Country, my land, my home,
My soul throbs to thy soul!

Thou'rt generous, my Country!
Thine arms are opened wide
To welcome earnest seekers
Of truth and righteousness;
Brave hearts, and hands that scorn not toil,
Here flow from far and wide,
And thy bosom, loving, wide,
Will happy homes and dear.

May all unite, my Country,
Through love and work for thee,
Till as one nation we stand,
And stretch our arms to sea:
All in one, in service one;
For God, and King, and Empire great,
Our heritage so grand!

For sixty years, my Country,
Thou'rt kept this ordered way:
Thou'rt had thy joys, and trials, too,
Thy stern, thy gladsome days;
Yet God has led thee onward here,
He filled the cup a-brim,
More fair, more free, thou'rt flourished still;
All thanks and praise to Him!

Thy future, then, my Country,
Is bright with promise true;
Thou'rt led by God in Heaven, mar,
Or Thy blast wind may rise,
But, like our country's Tree,
For may our country rise,
Full-blossomed in splendid growth,
A glory in all eyes!

Noise of Aeroplane
Sets Lights Going

Pittsburgh Aug. 24.—The noisy hum of an aeroplane a thousand feet in the air last night closed the switch that lighted a bank of flood lights at Bettisfield, McKeesport, in the first demonstration of a sound sensitive automatic lighting system developed by H. T. Spooner, research engineer of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

The device, in effect, uses the drone of an aeroplane to control electric energy. From a tiny current at first, this controlled energy is increased in power by amplifiers until it is strong enough to throw a good-sized lighting switch.

GREAT DEVELOPMENT IS BASED ON COAL

Canada's Copper Supplies Also Mean Much For Future, Mining Congress is Told

Montreal, Aug. 24.—Coal, copper and population as the three outstanding factors in Canada's prosperity were briefly discussed by Sir Richard Beddard, inspector of mines in Great Britain, at a luncheon held here yesterday in connection with the Empire Mining and Metallurgical Congress. The luncheon was a combined one, the congress meeting with the Canadian Club of Montreal.

In regard to coal, Sir Richard Beddard said the supremacy of Great Britain was built on her fuel resources and emphasized his opinion that the future still lay in the proper utilization and scientific treatment of coal. "You have here," continued the speaker, "enormous supplies of coal. The supply of coal in Canada will be produced in millions of tons which you have also enormous supplies of lignite and in the scientific treatment of that coal there lies potential wealth."

He said that within the next ten years he would not be surprised if Germany should be largely self-supporting in coal. As to copper, Sir Richard said the mining engineers realized the control of copper was a most important element in industrial life. He said the United States at present controlled sixty-two per cent of the world supply of the world, while the British Empire controlled something under ten per cent. However, he thought the future of copper within the Empire lay in Canada and Newfoundland.

At a banquet last night which preceded the departure of the delegates for Ottawa, Sir Robert Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer of Great Britain, spoke. "No reason for alarm exists because United States capital flows into Canada in large quantities while British capital comes in a more restrained manner," he said. "British capital had built up various foreign countries, yet had not sought political control in such countries, but to Canada as desired, the people of Canada might be certain that the reason no lack of interest in Canada, but simply lack of funds available."

OTHER SPEAKERS
E. W. Beatty K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and chancellor of McGill University, presided, and the speakers other than Sir Robert Horne and the chairman were Hon. J. E. Perreault, Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries of Quebec; J. L. Agnew, president of the International Nickel Company, and Hon. F. W. Beyer, Minister of Mines and Industries of South Africa. The latter stressed points of resemblance between the history of Canada and South Africa, making it clear that he stood squarely against the absorption of the Dutch race but believed in co-operation.

Smaller Parliament
Is Now Suggested

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 24.—A resolution favoring a smaller Parliament was unanimously endorsed last night by Conservatives of Essex County, meeting at Riverside to select delegates to the national Conservative convention to be held in Winnipeg. The resolution will be made an issue at the convention by Conservatives of Essex County, according to E. J. Belle-Perche, president of the Essex County Conservative Association, who sponsored it.

The meeting also accepted a resolution offered by Hon. R. Morand, former member for St. Eustache, Que., and asked that privileges accorded to immi-

Crown Colony
Days

Away back in the late sixties thousands of acres of British Columbia's timber were sold for one cent per acre, which looked like a fair price—then. To-day similar timber is worth from $150 to $200 an acre, so tremendously has timber appreciated in value within the scope of an average lifetime.

What the young growth of to-day will be worth sixty years from now is beyond computation if it is protected from fire and allowed to reach maturity.

The moral is obvious.

Mrs. Drummond Says Trade Unions Introducing Carl Marxian Economics

"You can't get a quart measure out of a pint pot. The Trade Unions are trying to create a pint pot in Canada, and they will be expecting to get a quart measure of benefit out of it."

This was the homely simile employed by Mrs. Flora Drummond, Controller-in-Chief of the Women's Guild of Empire in criticizing the action of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada now in session at Edmonton in demanding a five-day week of forty hours. Mrs. Drummond referred to the matter in her address before the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon.

CA' CARRY POLICY

"This action of the Trades and Labor Congress looks to me like the beginning of the 'ca' carry' policy which caused so much trouble in Great Britain. It will obstruct the development of this wonderful country which is just crying out for development. It is a case of Carl Marxian economics, a trying to curtail the capacity and development of the individual. But you can't get a quart measure out of a pint pot," said the speaker.

Mrs. Drummond warned the women to be on their guard against the spread of such policies, and to act as watchdogs against the industrial unrest which follows in the wake of 'ca' carry' policies.

ECONOMIC INTERNATIONALISM

Beating with the menace of strikes, Mrs. Drummond said, "I say to the working men of Canada as I said to those in Britain, arbitrate your industrial troubles. Be in a position to go into the markets of the world and win your markets in fair, open competition. There is no better internationalism than downright good, honest business."

That is the solution of international peace. Stating with emphasis that she regretted the admission of which which admitted foreigners were admitted into Canada as immigrants, yet the British could not get in without miles of red tape, Mrs. Drummond said it broke her heart to see any but British coming in to develop Canada. She pleaded for more elasticity in the immigration laws affecting the British, and also urged the education of prospective girl settlers as well as for boys.

LOOKING FOR SOFT JOBS

Canada had its problems similar to those of the Old Country, the speaker declared. The spathy of the loyal Britisher in Canada were allowed to grow, these problems would soon become as bad as those of Great Britain. "There are too many out here looking for a soft job, no worry and plenty of money attached to it, the same as in Britain."

She told the women of the industrial unrest which followed the war in the Old Country, and spoke of the measures taken by the women to offset the strikes which had been fomented by the Communists. Praise was given to the British working man, whom she described as sound at heart, loyal, and good fellows. The iniquitous system of intimidation and prevented the men from expressing their opinions, with the result that the Communist minority carried the day.

WANT SECRET BALLOT

The Women's Guild of Empire of which she was the head were going to campaign for the secret ballot in industrial disputes, so that the loyal working man could have a fair chance. In conclusion Mrs. Drummond appealed to the women of Canada to take an interest in the development of the navy, the Boy Scouts and the Girl Guides and other movements tending to the making of the highest type of citizenship. She rejoiced in the wonderful loyalty to the Motherland which she had encountered all through Canada.

In thanking Mrs. Drummond for her inspiring address, Miss Agnew presented her with a copy of "Canadian Cities of Romance," as a souvenir of her visit to Victoria. Miss Agnew also introduced Lady Cowan, who spoke to the club two years ago on the subject of "Empire Shopping Week," and who is on her way to Australia.

Miss Mabel Humphries was the soloist, and delighted the gathering with her charmingly rendered numbers.

FAIRFIELD CHURCH SCENE OF NUPTIALS

Marriage To-day of Miss Mabel Unwin and John V. Barnes

A pretty wedding took place this afternoon at the Fairfield United Church at 2:30 o'clock when the Rev. R. W. Lee united in marriage, Mabel Alice, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Unwin of 1808 Crescent Road, and Mr. John Vincent Barnes, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Barnes, Dallas Road. For the occasion the church had been decorated by friends of the bride with a profusion of Summer flowers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a frock of powder blue georgette, trimmed with panels of fine gold lace, and wore a hat in pastel shades. Her bouquet was a shower of Ophelia roses and swansons.

Miss Hannah Smith acted as bridesmaid, and wore a frock of peach-colored crepe de Chine with picture hat to match, and carried a sheet of gladioli and maidenhair fern.

Little Miss Bernice Unwin, sister of the bride, was flower girl, dressed in a dainty frock of orchid taffeta and carried a basket filled with sweet peas.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Herbert Barnes, and his ushers were Messrs. William and John Unwin, brothers of the bride. During the signing of the register, Mr. Arthur Unwin, brother of the bride sang "O Promise Me," accompanied by Mrs. A. Denton.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where only the members of the two families were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnes left by motor for Seattle en route to Oak Bay, California, and on their return from the South will reside at 1590 Wilmut Place, Oak Bay. The bride's traveling dress was a sports model of rose knitted silk with which was worn a hat to match and a white cloak.

Among the many handsome gifts were a dinner service of Old English china in the Madras pattern and an all-weather flower basket from the employees of David Spencer Limited, and a tray of cutlery from the managers of David Spencer Limited, which from the bride and groom are employed.

PRICES GET BETTER AT TRACK AND THEN COMES THE THUNDER

Rainbow Pays Top Price of $22.10, Creating Surprise in Third Race

Silex II, Cavalcador II. and Old Sinner Come Home in Double Figures

Willows Race Track, Aug. 24.—There was a rainbow at the Willows yesterday and a few bettors found the pot of gold at the end of it. Rainbow showed up just before the thunder claps began peeling and the lightning flashed across the sky. Those who had confidence in Rainbow and put two dollars on his nose, went to the winners and collected $22.10.

Rainbow, a bay gelding owned by W. Byers, won the third race of about five furlongs. The fans overlooked the gelding in an effort to get their money aboard My Friend Pat, but Rainbow ran a nice race and paid the best price of the day.

In the first race Silex II raised a shout in the stands when his price to place was posted at $16.85. This was the best place price of the meeting.

Two other fair returns were made by Old Sinner, an old timer, who paid $12.75 to win the sixth race, and by Cavalcador II in the final race, the return being $12.45.

JOCKEY INJURED

Jockey Kefover was injured in the fourth race when Bob Kay lashed out at Hickman. Kefover, who had a leg up on Hickman, was kicked in the leg and his injury proved so painful that he had to be removed from the saddle. Dye was called out from the jockey's room and mounted Hickman.

Louie Wright in the second race went to the post the hottest favorite of the meetings in Victoria.

Lucky Liza, the horse being fairly well backed in this race. After running for half the distance, Silex II showed lightning speed on the last line round, the horses being fairly well backed in this race. ### FAVORITE WINS

Coming from behind just before entering the stretch on the second time round, Herbert matched first honors by a neck in the mile and one-sixteenth event, which opened yesterday's programme. He was the favorite, but paid $7.05 to win, all the horses being fairly well backed in this race. After running for half the distance, Silex II showed lightning speed on the last line round, the horses being fairly well backed in this race.

Ably ridden by Ballentine, Louie Wright came in on the rail entering the stretch in the second race when Jim Rogan carried Lady Spain wide and won with two lengths to spare. Lady Spain got second place and Kiki finished third. It was a case of small prices all around, the show money on Kiki, $3.50, the highest price for a show money horse in the history of the track.

RAINBOW SURPRISES

Moving up from fourth place entering the stretch, Rainbow paid the highest price in the third race to win by a neck and pay $22.10 to win, the highest price of the Willows meet so far. My Friend Pat, who had looked as if he would stick well to his numerous backers but on the turn for home he stopped suddenly and just managed to get the show money by a neck from Judge Pryor. The latter set a hard pace and lead most of the distance. He went wide on all the turns, however.

Southern Gentleman, who got the place, ran his usual steady race throughout, never leaving the rail and always holding the lead until just before entering the stretch. Bob Kay held his lead easily to the wire in the fifth race and won by a length and a half.

GAME NOT CROOKED

New York, Aug. 24.—Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis yesterday declared "there was not the remotest evidence or indication that Capt. Johnnie Conner, of the Newark Bears, was guilty of throwing the ball game," after investigating several reports concerning an eleven-inning game played between Rochester and Newark last June.

NOT FAVORITE WINS

The sixth race was another procession with Lucky Hays leading the way to the wire by two-and-a-half lengths. Lucky Hays took the lead going to the first turn and thereafter made every point a winner. Ethel P. slid into second place after going an eighth and held it till the end while the remainder of the field ran in the same order until the end.

Outgoing Fast Denny and Bayman in the last stride to the wire. Old Sinner got up to win by a nose in the sixth race. Past Denny was second, and Bayman third, just ahead behind. It was a three-horse race most of the way, with the remainder of the field well back, although Carlisle showed a flash of speed soon after the start. Matthews brought him up from third to first in the stretch. Bayman set the pace for a time and dropped back, but challenged strongly near the wire finish.

Both favorites were out of the money in the last race. Ben Vale, the first choice, led for a time, but found the pace too hot, and dropped back. Cavalcador II went into the lead at the half way mark and won by a length from Romulus.

The results yesterday were as follows:

First race—Claiming; purse $400; four-year-olds and up; one mile and

OFF FOR BATTLE

BILL JOHNSTON

San Francisco, Aug. 24.—William M. Johnston, "grand little man" of tennis, laid aside his salesman's stock and bond portfolio to-day, dismissed business cares from his mind, and prepared to leave for the East in quest of further court honors.

This morning Johnston left for Boston to pair up with Richard W. Williams II in the national doubles, beginning next Monday. The San Francisco native is considered a threat in the Davis Cup doubles.

Following the national doubles play, Johnston will carry his smashing game into the Davis Cup challenge round September 8 and 9, at the Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia. Last night, he will appear in the national singles, a championship he has held twice in the earlier days of his fourteen-year campaign.

Reports from the East indicate that the burden of the Davis Cup play is going to fall upon the shoulders of Johnston. This conclusion is reached because "Little Bill," with his terrific offensive style of play, has always been virtually unsolvable to the French racketeers. That the French will defeat Japan to reach the challenge round is expected on all sides.

Observers say that Johnston either wins or loses by his own efforts. While most matches are won on opponents' errors, he smashes the ball continuously to pile up points, and it is this blinding speed that has always baffled France's tennis delegations.

The little man with the mighty racket has never lost a Davis Cup match to French players, and only once has been defeated by a member of the French team. That was last year, when he was downed by Jean Borotra in the national singles.

Since practice during the summer here has put Johnston in great physical condition, better than he has been for years. This year, instead of going to the United States, he will play in the French team in the Davis Cup.

Don Carrick Only Canadian To Stay In U.S. Amateur

National Champion Qualifies; Bon Stein, Seattle, Falls by the Wayside

Bobby Jones Shoots 142 to Win Medal Round and Equal Record; Match Play To-day

Minneapolis, Aug. 24.—Stripped of all superfluous players, thirty-two survivors of the qualifying rounds were paired off to-day for match play in competition for the national amateur golf championship at Minnikahda Club. Don Carrick of Toronto, Canadian champion, was the only Dominion player to qualify, he had a thirty-six-hole card of 151.

At the top of the draw stood George Von Elm of Los Angeles in the first match to defend his title, having gained admission to hole competition by virtue of a hard-earned 154, just two strokes inside the limit of 156, at which eleven golfers tied for the last seven places.

SCINTILLATING FEAT

At the bottom of the lower brackets was Bobby Jones, but he was there through a scintillating performance that equaled the record of 142 for medal play in the event. Jones stood out head and shoulders above the qualifiers after his record of 31-39-67 yesterday.

His first match is with Maurice McCarthy of New York and if he survives that he must face either Frank Delp of Portland, Ore., last year's western champion, or Eugene Homans of New York, a youth who outstripped Bobby on the first day and tied the field with a 71.

Von Elm was no better last year in qualifying play and yet went through to beat Jones in the finals. He seems to revive after medal play is over and he meets an individual opponent face to face in the rubrics.

His first match is with Johnny McKinley of Chicago, and his second, should he survive, with either Rudy Knapp of Sioux City, Ia., or Harry Legg of Minneapolis.

CARRICK MEETS SWEET

Carrick meets Art Sweet of Chicago in the first round. Sweet had one stroke less than the Canadian "title-holder" in the qualifying round.

Players qualifying and their scores: Robert T. Jones Jr., Atlanta, 142; Harrison R. Johnston, Minneapolis, 145; Philippe Finlay, New York, 147; Eugene V. Homans, Englewood, N.J., 148.

Dr. Clarke Crokan, Philadelphia, 148; Chick Evans, Chicago, 150; Allen Martin, Los Angeles, 150; Arthur Yates, Rochester, N.Y., 160; Arthur Sweet, Chicago, 150.

Paul Hamilton, Bridgeport, Conn., 151; George V. Rotan, Houston, Texas, 151; Don Carrick, Toronto, 151; Francis Quimet, Boston, 151.

Richard A. Jones Jr., New York, 152; Max Marston, Philadelphia, 152; Albert E. Wilbeck, Portland, Ore., 154; Billy Sixty, Milwaukee, 153; Harry G. Legg, Minneapolis, 153.

John McKinley Jr., Chicago, 154; George Von Elm, Los Angeles, 154; Dr. O. P. Willick, Portland, Ore., 154; R. Denmore Shute, Huntington, W.Va., 154.

Roland B. MacKenzie, Washington, 155; George Thomas, Chicago, 155; Dexter Cummings, Chicago, 155.

WON PLAY-OFFS With a setting sun retaining enough light to see the players and gallery, which would not give up and went out on the expedition promising to end only with darkness, the eleven players who had scored 156 set out on the play.

On the first hole Eddie Heid, St. Louis; Maurice McCarthy, New York; Frank Delp, Portland, Ore.; Elsworth Walton, New York, and David Ward, Grand Rapids, qualified.

Rudy Knapp, Sioux City, Iowa; Watts Gunn, Atlanta; John Vavra, Cedar Rapids; Howard Walton, Chicago; Albert E. Wilbeck, New York, and John W. Dawson, Chicago, went on the second hole seeking the two vacant places. Knapp qualified at the second hole and Dawson and Vavra were eliminated, leaving Gunn, Brobeck and Walton to fight it out at the third hole for the single place left to complete the thirty-two to play.

Walton got a long putt down for a birdie two and the short third and completed the select class, leaving Gunn, an intercollegiate champion, and Brobeck, New York amateur titleholder, out after a struggle.

SEEN FAILS TO QUALIFY

The course was strewn with the hopes of champions, former champions and near champions. Two of the first ten in the ranking list of the United States Golf Association failed to qualify for the semi-finals to play today. Amateur champion, No. 6 in "the second ten," George Dawson, James Manning Fred J. Wright Jr., George J. Voigt and William C. Fowles did not make the grade.

The thirty-two survivors went out to-day to play an eighteen-hole round, which will reduce the field to sixteen by the afternoon and eight will fall by the golfing wayide in the second eighteen-hole round of the day.

The eight will become four after thirty-six-hole matches Tuesday and Wednesday. The semi-finalists to play thirty-six holes and Saturday open for the final championship test, also at thirty-six holes.

Newport Tennis Off

Newport, R. I., Aug. 24.—The forty-seven matches scheduled to-day in the international invitation lawn tennis tournament were postponed because of rain.

HAD VERY LITTLE TO SPARE

GEORGE VON ELM

GEORGE VON ELM

In the advance comment on the United States amateur golf championship Von Elm was highly touted to again win over Bobby Jones, but, judging by the play of the two in the qualifying round at Minneapolis yesterday, Jones is aces better than the Los Angeles player. Jones's 67 yesterday gave him a total of 142, while Von Elm had 154, which was just two inside the qualifying limit. Von Elm, however, does better in match play and there are many who feel that he will find his stride and reach the finals, opposed to Jones.

La Barba Closes His Ring Career With a Good Win Over Vacca

Flyweight Champ Gains Revenge For Previous Losses; Goes to College

Los Angeles, Aug. 24.—Fidel La Barba, flyweight champion, closed his ring career here last night in suitable fashion by taking a ten-round decision over Johnny Vacca, and thereby gaining some revenge for two defeats at the hands of the Bridgeport, Conn. boxer.

The flyweight title of La Barba, who had announced his intention of retiring after this fight to enter Stanford University, was not at stake in the bout since both fighters entered the ring over weight.

The champion received an ovation at the close of the bout, which marked the climax of his somewhat abbreviated professional boxing career.

La Barba, who had been a professional for three years, had a record of 15 wins and 2 losses. The rest went to La Barba by good margins.

HITCHCOCK SICK AND AMERICA POLO TEAM IS ANXIOUS

New York, Aug. 24.—Despite the recent reassembling of America's Big Four of polo, the nation's chances in the international series with Great Britain have suffered a rude jolt by the continued ill-health of Tommy Hitchcock, sensational No. 2 player, it developed to-day.

So anxious are those in charge of the American team to conserve Hitchcock's strength for the big series that a plan has been devised whereby he would be left out of all the remaining practices except one. Observers have taken it for granted that the American defence committee is preparing for a possible substituting of Winston Guest, for Hitchcock.

Hitchcock has not enjoyed his usual health since the war, when he was shot down behind the German lines, taken prisoner, moved from one camp to another and then escaped through enemy lines to Switzerland.

British Bowlers Win First Match in West

The tourists, who will stay here until Friday evening, were entertained last night by members of the Asiniboln Club at a banquet.

ST. LOUIS WITHIN THREE GAMES OF CHICAGO IN RACE

Cardinals Prove by Heavy Win Over Phillies That They Are Still a Factor

Move on to Start Crucial Series With Giants; Cards Sock Four Homeruns

New York, Aug. 24.—Four home runs in one game by the St. Louis Cardinals have impressed the fact that the world's champions are still in the race for the National League Championship. By pounding out a 23-3 victory over Philadelphia yesterday, Bob O'Farrell's Cardinals moved to within three games of the leading Chicago Cubs. It was the only game played in the major leagues, the two other contests on the schedule being rained out.

Blades, Hefey, Sherdell and Schubel hit for the circuit and three of these drives came in the fifth inning. Two men were on base when Hefey and Schubel connected. St. Louis put over eight runs in the fifth inning, driving Jack off the mound.

REAL TEST

St. Louis will get a real test when the team starts its next series against the Giants in New York. The Giants, five games from first place, may carry the series if they are to make up ground lost earlier in the season.

The Giants have won 19 of their last 25 games. Although the Cubs appear to be temporarily off balance, they are the only club that has not fallen into periodic slumps. They have played fairly consistently well. Yesterday's results were:

Big Bill won 6-1, 6-0, and with the aid of a try reached the third round of the invitation tournament in which he was victor a year ago.

Los Angeles, Aug. 24.—Fourteen persons charged with betting at Pacific Coast League baseball parks here were fined a total of $850 yesterday in the municipal court. Local courts desire to co-operate with baseball officials in stopping all betting during professional games, the court announced.

COUNTED OUT

BON STEIN

Friends on the coast of Bon Stein of Seattle expected him to qualify in the United States amateur golf championship at Minneapolis yesterday, but he was among the famous players counted out. Stein recently won the Western amateur title at Seattle, and was in great form when he left the coast, but he could not stick with the fast going yesterday. Frank Delp of Portland, Western champion in 1926, qualified as well as Don Carrick, the Canadian champion.

The winner of the championship will be awarded the Sayward Cup, which will be held for one year or until the City Championship is played. In addition he will be awarded a prize which he will retain. The runner-up in the championship as well as the winners in all other flights will receive prizes.

Residents of the County of Victoria who are members of clubs within the county, are eligible to take part in the championship.

All entries must reach the secretary of the Uplands Golf Club by 10 a.m. on Friday, August 26, accompanied by the entrance fee of $2. Competitors must furnish their handiaps when sending in their entries. Entry forms may be obtained from the secretaries of the local clubs.

OUR SERIAL STORY

"The Wife & Co."

By LILL HAMILTON

"Dearest," he cried, as he saw the tumbled body. "What's wrong?" He ran to her, and lifted her high enough to look the brown head beneath his chin. "Did I do anything mean?" he asked. "What is it, Mollykins?"

"I was mad because you didn't like my table covers," she said, her face still concealed in his vest.

"I did like 'em," he said, earnestly. "I thought they were nice. But it'd be better to take 'em over to my place and have 'em spoiled. Don't you think so?"

She nodded, moving his chin back and forth by the pressure of her forehead. "Robbie, we won't have to have 'em spoiled in our house, will we? The boys don't have to come and spoil 'em, do they?"

"Why no," he said. "I'd rather keep 'embody away than make you cry. He patted her cheek as he went on. "The reason I came back was because I was afraid I'd hurt your feelings some way. And besides, I had an idea. Since we're going to buy things in advance, what's the matter with this?" He worked his arm free so he could slip a hand into his pocket, from which he produced a circular, highly illustrated.

"Look, Mollykins!" he said, shaking his pages open before her.

CHAPTER VIII

Molly looked at the pictures that Brownell was showing her were of radio sets, with large families grouped around, smiling.

"I'll want one of 'em when we're married, and I thought I'd start buying one now and you keep it in your room," he beamed at her expectantly. The girl was silent.

"Wouldn't you like one?" he persisted.

"Why, Robbie," she said, after another pause, "do you think we ought to spend all that money?"

"We'll have to later on," he said. "We'll need one. Everybody has one."

"But—" she rubbed her throat, as if it were tight—"there are so many other things we ought to have first, money boy."

"You got a lot of tidies that we don't need," he said.

"Those aren't tidies. They're table covers. And we will need them. I don't propose to have our house looking like your room with those horrible boys' and girls' tables all stained up with gin!" she rose to her feet, indignantly.

"But you can have the radio in your room, to amuse you," he urged.

"We'll get a radio after we've bought our stove, and our dining-room set, and our bedroom set," she said. "Bob, think you ought to have more money!"

He folded up his circular and put it in his pocket. "You're in a mighty bad temper to-night, Molly," he said stiffly. "I think we'll sleep alone to-night."

"Do as you like," she said for the second time that evening, and for the second time he went away with a dry smile planted on the extreme corner of his jaw.

Molly moved rapidly around the room for a time doing unnecessary things with great violence, until her wrath was cooled. Then she sank into a chair and thought, for ten or fifteen minutes. At the end of this period she got up and put on her coat and hat. There was no telephone in the flat, and to call up Brownell it was necessary to go to the corner drug store.

She did not call her friends, however. Instead, after standing with her hand on the doorknob for a time, she turned back, took off her wraps, and put out the roll of linen. She carried this to Mrs. Potter's door.

"Well," came the lady's voice, ungraciously, in answer to Molly's knock. "May I come in?"

"I suppose so."

The landlady was not cordial. She did not even rise as Molly came into the room.

"Could you help me?" the girl began, unwinding her parcel. "I ought to have some nice linen to make table covers, and they're stamped ready to embroider. Could you show me how to do it?"

"No," Molly admitted.

"Ever do any sewing?"

"I mend my clothes," ventured the girl.

"I said sewing," returned the landlady, tartly. "Did you ever make a dress, or underclothes?"

"Why, no," said the girl. "Mamma used to make my clothes at home, and after I came to New York I never had a chance to learn."

"So, when you're going to get married, and are fixing yourself, to be a wife, you pick out some embroidery to do?" Mrs. Potter was plainly hostile. "Didn't strike you it might pay to learn how to make your own clothes, did it?"

Molly was backing away toward the door.

"Sit down," ordered Mrs. Potter. "You talk just like the boss down at the office," said Molly.

"I suppose he talks that way because he has to," said the woman. "Do you know how to cook?"

"A little," said the girl. "Mrs. Potter, aren't you going to help me with my embroidery?"

"No," said her companion, with great decision. "I'll show you how to make a dress—I'll help you make it—but I give no embroidery lessons to a girl who can't make her own bloomers and who's going to marry a poor man. Now, how are you going to feed him if you can't cook?" she pursued.

"I can learn," said Molly. "Everybody has to learn some time."

"I know how you'll learn. You'll learn by spending his breakfast about three mornings in a row, and then you'll tell him how nice it'll be to go to the restaurant for breakfast. I know. I've seen it happen."

"Could you cook and sew when you were married?" demanded Molly.

"I could not," said Mrs. Potter. "That's one reason why I'm half starved right now. Between being in debt all the time for my clothes and never getting a decent meal, no wonder Bill Potter hunted up the apples for a rest!"

"My goodness! Did he—did he—go to the angels on purpose?"

"On purpose?" Mrs. Potter stared. "What sort of course not. But I suppose I made life just too hard for him to stand. He sort of wilted."

Molly was silent a long time, while the older woman looked at her, her knotted hands folded in her lap.

"My Bobbie was up here to-night," said the girl, at length, "and he wanted to buy a radio and I wouldn't let him."

Mrs. Potter made no comment.

"I expect I was pretty mean," Molly went on.

"Probably," said Mrs. Potter.

Another silence followed, in which the girl fidgeted uneasily. "I guess I'll go now," she ventured.

The landlady made no objection, and Molly departed. Mrs. Potter did not reply to her "good-night."

Back in her room the girl folded up the linen and put it at the very bottom of one of the dresser drawers, placing beside it the colored silk that she had secured to make it beautiful. Then, rather drowsily, she undressed and went to bed.

The next day was Sunday and Bob did not come.

Monday morning she arose early, and breakfasted with haste. By this means she contrived to be at the office before Brownell—before anybody else except Mr. Frasier himself.

"Hello!" said her employer, in some surprise. "You don't have to be here before half past eight, you know."

"I just thought I'd come," explained Molly, rather vaguely. "You always come early."

Uncle Wiggily and the Talking Doll

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Dear me!" exclaimed Mrs. Longears one day as she was helping Nurse Jane Pussycat Wiggily and dust the shell cottage at the seashore where Uncle Wiggily's family was spending part of the summer vacation. "Dear me!"

"What is the matter, my dear?" asked Mr. Longears, who was just getting ready to hop off and look for an adventure. "Did you see a moth flying around?"

"If you did I will get a moth ball so he can play with it and her!"

"It will do no good," sighed Mrs. Longears. "I have told her, every day since we have been at the shore, that she must put the talking doll away. But she doesn't care any more."

"Who doesn't care?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Jingle," answered his wife. Her talking doll is broken and won't speak, so Jingle doesn't want to play with her any longer. And that's why I almost laughed when you said the doll would have no one to talk to if Nurse Jane put her in the attic. She can't talk anyhow, being broken. The little phonograph inside her, that used to talk, doesn't work any more."

"Oh, so that's the reason," asked Uncle Wiggily. "Well, I haven't much to do to-day, and perhaps I can fix Jingle's broken doll, so it will talk again. I'll surprise her."

Mr. Longears took the doll that used to talk out on the beach where the light was good and there he soon found what was the matter. The spring and wheels that worked the phonograph talking voice inside the doll were rusty. A little oil soon made the wheels spin around smoothly and by pushing a little button in the doll's chest out came the voice as good as even.

Having oiled the doll and wound up the spring, Uncle Wiggily tried the little phonograph by pushing the button on her chest, just above her stomach. At once the doll opened her mouth and spoke.

"Hi! As good as ever!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "I'll surprise Jingle with this." He looked down, the beach and saw where some of the little bunny girls had built themselves a seaweed house like the one built by Uncle Wiggily. "I'll take the talking doll down there and give it to Jingle," decided her father.

Several times, on his way hopping down the beach, the rabbit gentleman tried the phonograph doll by pressing on the button in her chest. It was just like one of the doll's dress buttons, and if you were not told the secret you never would have guessed that a little punch there would start the doll talking. But such it did.

When Mr. Longears reached the little seaweed house there was no one in it. Just before he got there the rabbit children had run down the sand to see some sea urchins who had just been washed up by a wave. So Mr. Longears said:

"I will set the doll up on the sandy floor inside the seaweed house and leave her. Jingle won't guess that I have mended the phonograph and she may hit the doll by accident and start her talking. Then Jingle will be surprised. I'll hide behind the house and listen."

Propping the doll up with a bit of driftwood, Uncle Wiggily left her and hid behind the seaweed house. In a little while he heard feet shuffling along the sandy beach and a voice growing:

"This must be the place. The Sea Lion said Uncle Wiggily lived in a seaweed house and this is it! I'll go in and hide in a corner and when that rabbit hops in I'll grab him!" From around the corner of the play cabin Uncle Wiggily saw the Bob Cat, who had traveled all the way from Woodland, near the Orange Ice Mountains.

"Oh, what danger I am in!" whispered the rabbit. But, as yet, the Bob Cat had not seen him. Into the seaweed house the Bob Cat shoved his way. He saw the doll sitting there staring at him.

"Scout! Take yourself off! I want to hide in here to catch Uncle Wiggily!" howled the Bob Cat. He gave the doll a shove. His paw touched the spring button in her chest and, a moment later, the phonograph doll began talking. She said:

"Get out of here! How dare you touch me! Run or I'll call the Police Dog! Get out!" And the Bob Cat was so astonished by hearing the doll talk that away he ran as fast as he could go.

"Hi! Hi!" laughed Uncle Wiggily behind the house. "What a joke!"

Jingle was very glad to have her talking doll mended and thanked her Pudding when she returned and found it. And if the rabbit in the rice pudding don't play tag so hard that they pop out and spill all over the tablecloth, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's funny best.

"Oh, it isn't a moth, I am glad to say," answered the rabbit lady. "But here is this old, talking doll of Jingle's. The child brought it with her but she hasn't played with it and it's always around in the way. Put it up in the attic, Nurse Jane."

"I wouldn't do that," said Uncle Wiggily. "If you put the talking doll up in the attic she will be lonesome with no one to whom she can speak. I'll tell Jingle to take letter care of her doll."

"It will do no good," sighed Mrs. Longears. "I have told her, every day since we have been at the shore, that she must put the talking doll away. But she doesn't care any more."

HARVESTERS NOW ON PRAIRIE TREK

Nearly 3,000 Arrived in Winnipeg This Morning

Winnipeg, Aug. 24.—The first of the troops of harvesters who are coming into the prairies this year from the Maritime provinces to harvest the crop arrived in Winnipeg this morning
over the Canadian National Railways.

There are 2,700 of them and they are traveling in four special trains. Before the day is out, they will all be on their way to the fields where they are to work.

Special ticket booths have been put up at the Union Station and representatives of the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be there to see that the men are ticketed to the points where they are needed most at the present.

Realizing that the crop is slightly later this year on account of the backward spring and that it is imperative that harvesting be carried through with all speed, the Canadian National has made arrangements to have the men brought into Winnipeg and shipped out to the farms without delay and at the same time to make sure that they are equitably distributed through the provinces.

British Columbia harvesters have already come into the wheat country and the Maritime men will be followed by troops after troops of Easterners until 25,000 workers have come from the provinces by the sea and from Quebec and Ontario.

SEARCH FOR MISSING PLANES NEARS END

U.S. Destroyers and Aero- planes Have Reported No Trace of Lost Pacific Fliers

San Francisco, Aug. 24.—More than a week after participants in the Dole air-race from San Francisco to Honolulu took off from the Oakland Airport, the world was still awaiting word of the fate of six men and one woman, who were lost in connection with the great adventure. Nothing has been heard from the planes Miss Doran and Golden Eagle since they disappeared over the Pacific early Tuesday August 16. Of the Dallas Spirit, whose dauntless pilot and navigator went out to seek the missing crews, no word has come since the dramatic SOS flashed across the waters
when the plane went into a second tail-spin shortly after 9 o'clock last Friday night.

DESTROYERS HUNT

ployed across a 350-mile front, are conducting the well-nigh hopeless search along the Great Circle steamship lane
between San Francisco and Honolulu.
Land and seaplanes dispatched from the decks of the United States steamship carrier Langley and the aircraft tender Aroostook are scouting an 80-mile patch of sea and every effort is being made to trace down recurrent reports that one of the planes
might have awoken south of its course
in the darkness and crashed against Mauna Kea, loftiest peak of the Hawaiian Islands, gave rise to the hope
that some definite news of the aviators might yet be obtained.

REPORT AWAITED

Three of the United States army's Pauline aeroplanes, which left Lake
Field, Honolulu, to fly over the mountain in the hope of finding a fallen plane, are expected to report the result of their search to-day.
Possibility that one of the planes
might have awoken south of its course
in the darkness and crashed against
Mauna Kea, loftiest peak of the Hawaiian Islands, gave rise to the hope
that some definite news of the avia-
tors might yet be obtained.

SEARCH TO CEASE

With the approach of the "Zero Hour" set for Thursday night by the Navy Department, when all its vessels shall abandon the search, doubt was expressed by mariners and experienced navy fliers that any of the Dole planes
could have remained aloft this long,
even though favored with a week of mild weather.

LATZO WINS FIGHT

Lazo of Scranton, former welterweight champion, won from Joey Gans of Allentown on a foul in the eighth round of a ten-round fight here last night. Lazo is now a middleweight, having outgrown the lighter division.
